

Order your materials and assignments in the order in which they should be completed.

Consider creating a lesson for each module that includes all the content and links to resources and assignments for that module.

Make sure it is always clear where students should click next.

Maintain a consistent experience for students across modules.

Course Navigation Techniques

When possible, embed content in your course module instead of linking out to it.

Avoid including too many links on the main course page.

If you do have to link out, make sure the links open in a new window so that students don't lose their place in the course.

Consider creating a course tour video that provides a brief overview of the course layout.
